About the cover photos:

The front cover is a reverted color photo of the remains of an old road on the property once owned by James and Martha Puryear Hord. It was taken by the author in 2016 when the land was still a forest. The back cover photo is of a house built by Rufus Pinkney Hoyle about 1880. Rufus married Eliza Hord, the daughter of Richard T. and Margaret Thompson Hord. The photo was probably taken by Rush Hoyle, son of Rufus and Eliza, in the 1930s. The house, now gone, was located on the northern segment of Clark Circle about five miles south of Fallston, NC.
